

Study Room FAQ's

1. Who can use the study rooms?

Priority is given to groups of 2 or more.

Individuals may be asked to move to another area. Study rooms are available on a first come, first served basis unless reserved. If you are a group in need of a room, please see the library staff for assistance.

2. Can Groups reserve a study room?

Study rooms can be reserved by groups using the Robin System. Login to myWCTC to access the Robin System.

3. Can I eat in a study room?

Light snacks and covered drinks may be brought into a study room. However, no food or drink is allowed near computers or other electronic equipment. Please discard all food wrappers in the garbage and return food trays to the Hub.

4. Can I leave my belongings in the study room if I have to leave briefly?

For security and usage reasons, items should not be left unattended. The library staff may remove items left for more than 15 minutes and put them at the Information Desk. The library is not responsible for items left in the study rooms.

If you have any other questions about using a study room, please stop at the Information Desk or call (262) 691-5316.
